

What's Eating Your Collection?

White-shouldered house moth Endrosis sarcitrella

Adult

Size: About 10mm

Shape: small moth, wings folded along back

Colour: Grey and black and white

Antennae: Long

Distinguishing features: Bright white patch of scales on head and shoulders

Larvae eat: Detritus from birds nests etc

Damage: Very rare

Adults eat: Nothing

Often found on: on traps in historic houses on traps near chimneys due to nests and dead birds in the chimney

